PH.D. IN FINANCIAL ECONOMICS

PROGRAM

Midwest University is pleased to announce the launch of a new Ph.D. in Financial Economics.

This 60-credit Ph.D. program is designed to provide students with a deep understanding of the complex interactions between finance and economics. It offers two main areas of emphasis: Financial Economics and ESG Management.

1

EMPHASIS IN FINANCIAL ECONOMICS

Financial Economics is a specialized field that examines the intricate relationship between financial markets and economic systems. This emphasis area delves into key topics such as asset pricing, financial derivatives, risk management, and macroeconomic policies. Students will explore how financial instruments and markets influence economic outcomes, preparing them to contribute to both academic research and practical financial decision-making at the highest levels.

EMPHASIS IN ESG FINANCE

The ESG Finance emphasis delves into the intersection of finance and sustainable development, highlighting the critical role of financial strategies in promoting environmental, social, and governance (ESG) objectives. ESG Finance focuses on the incorporation of ESG criteria into investment decisions, risk management, and corporate financial practices. As the global demand for responsible investment grows, this emphasis prepares students to navigate the complexities of aligning financial performance with ethical standards and sustainability goals. Students specializing in ESG Finance will gain the expertise needed to drive financial strategies that not only generate economic value but also contribute positively to society and the environment.
